

The Joy of Simplicity

“Administrative Simplification” is more than a catchphrase around here. It’s who we are and what we do.

You probably wouldn’t describe administrative simplification as “joyful.”

Let’s face it. It’s hard work. Sure the results will be worth it, but how much time and effort will it take to get there?

But what if you could modernize your front-end infrastructure without significantly changing your back-end systems? Or dramatically streamline information exchange between you and your trading partners?

For Edifecs customers, the answers to these questions are helping them cut waste and save millions.

All in all, they’re pretty happy about that. Joyful, even.
